Consensus Computation for Medical Image Analysis

Xiaoyi Jiang

University of Münster, Germany

Combining multiple models into one consensus model helps among others reduce the uncertainty in the initial models. Consensus prototype learning can be formulated in arbitrary problem domains, either in an informal or a formal manner. In this talk we introduce the concept of consensus learning and the related algorithms. Examples will be shown to demonstrate its usefulness to medical image analysis.